

U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Norfolk District

William A. Sorrentino, Jr., P.E., PMP
Chief Technical Services Division

William A. Sorrentino, Jr. is currently serving as the Chief, Technical Services Division at the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Norfolk District. In this position, he has responsibility to manage and lead the district's largest division which includes Engineering, Construction and Operations. He serves as a principle advisor and consultant to the Commander on technical and key matters.

Education

Mr. Sorrentino attended Pennsylvania State University where he received a Bachelor of Science Degree in Civil Engineering in 1977. Subsequently, he has done postgraduate engineering work at Old Dominion University in Norfolk, Virginia; is a graduate of the Gallup Leadership Institute, the Federal Executive Institute and is also a graduate of the Army Management Staff College. He is a registered Professional Engineer in the Commonwealth of Virginia and a certified Project Management Professional.

Experience

Mr. Sorrentino has served the Government for 28 years beginning his service with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in 1977. He has served in various positions in the Corps, which includes structural design, project management, construction management and operations management, both in line and staff positions. Mr. Sorrentino is often called upon to serve the Corps in various corporate assignments.

Awards

Bronze de-Fleury Medal
Meritorious Civilian Service Award
Superior Civilian Service Award
Commanders Award (multiple)
Achievement Medal for Civilian Service

Memberships

Society of American Military Engineers, Army Engineer Association and Project Management Institute

Personal

Mr. Sorrentino is a native of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. He is an active community member, a national PTA lifetime member and a 3rd degree black belt instructor in Tae-Kwon-Do.